WHO AND WHAT IS THE UN?

The United Nations (UN) is an intergovernmental organization whose purpose is to maintain international peace and security, develop friendly relations among nations, achieve international cooperation, and be a centre for harmonizing the actions of nations.

It is the world's largest and most familiar international organization. The UN is headquartered on international territory in New York City, and has other main offices in Geneva, Nairobi, Vienna, and The Hague (home to the International Court of Justice). (Wikipedia)

United States and the United Nations

The United States is a charter member of the United Nations and one of five permanent members of the UN Security Council. The United States is the hosts of the headquarters of the United Nations, which includes the usual meeting place of the General Assembly in New York City, in the north east coast of the country. International Organization Immunities

Act of 12-9-1945

Congress relinquished every public office over to the UN. Local governments up to the president and fall under UN jurisdiction. Congress gave the UN the right to dictate what laws will be international & gave them the right to tax the States.

International Reorganization Rescind Act

"To rescind and revoke membership of the United States in the United Nations and specialized agencies thereof, and for other purposes. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled .

The Unconstitutional UN Treaty

- I. Articles 36 and 43 of the UN Treaty are unconstitutional because they amend the Constitution without the consent of 3/4 of the states. There are also two laws passed pursuant to the UN Treaty which are unconstitutional for the same reason. See Reid v. Covert, 35 US1 (1957).
- II. The UN is insolvent. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros Ghali admits in New York Times interview, reprinted in Columbus Dispatch, August 29, 1993.
- III. Oklahoma is a perfect state to seek to recover the $1.2 billion recently paid by the US to the UN. See attached draft of proposed Oklahoma lawsuit v. the UN.

Sincerely,

J.J. Boesel

UNITED NATIONS STRUCTURE: SECRETARY -GENERAL

The head of the UN is called the Secretary-General

To be selected as secretary-general, a candidate must receive the votes of at least nine members of the United Nations Security Council, with no vetoes from permanent members. The secretary-general is then appointed by a majority vote of the United Nations General Assembly.

VOTED ON NOT ELECTED

United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres, at UN Headquarters in New York

Equal parts diplomat and advocate, civil servant and CEO, the Secretary-General is a symbol of United Nations ideals and a spokesman for the interests of the world's peoples, in particular the poor and vulnerable among them. The Secretary-General is appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Security Council.

The United Nations logo, featuring a world map with latitude and longitude lines, surrounded by a laurel wreath, is centered in the background.

SPECIALIZED AGENCIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS

SPECIALIZED AGENCIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS

United Nations Specialized Agencies are autonomous organizations working with the United Nations and each other through the coordinating machinery of the United Nations Economic and Social Council at the intergovernmental level, and through the Chief Executives Board for co-ordination (CEB) at the inter-secretariat level.[1]

One of the principal objectives of the UN is to solve economic, social, cultural and humanitarian problems through international cooperation. Several specialized agencies have been set up to achieve these goals, agencies which may or may not have been created by the United Nations, but they are incorporated into the United Nations System by the United Nations Economic and Social Council acting under Articles 57 and 63 of the United Nations Charter. At present, the UN has in total 15[2][3][note 1] specialized agencies that carry out various functions on behalf of the UN.

THE ROLE OF NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS AND THE UNITED NATIONS (AND THE WORLD)

NGOs are not governments and are not usually directly created by governments

The role of NGO representatives is to influence policies through participation in the entire policy-making process. What distinguishes the NGO representative's role at the U.N. from lobbying at the national level is that the representative may appeal to and discuss with the diplomats of many different governments.

Non-governmental organizations play a vital role in the shaping and implementation of participatory democracy. Their credibility lies in the responsible and constructive role they play in society. Formal and informal organizations, as well as grass-roots movements, should be recognized as partners in the implementation of Agenda 21.

General Consultative Status (formerly Consultative Status 1), the highest level, which may be granted to organizations that are broadly representative of major segments of society in a large number of countries. Entitled to deliver oral presentations during the council's meetings.

Special Consultative Status (formerly Consultative Status 2), which may be granted to organizations concerned with only a few of the fields of activity covered by the Council

Roster, which are "other organizations that do not have general or special consultative status, considers can make occasional and useful contributions to the work of the Council."

As of August 2021, there are a total of 5,591 organizations in consultative status with ECOSOC. There are 141 organizations in general consultative status, 4,483 in special consultative status and 967 on the Roster.
